

The image shows a rectangular template for a UV210 product. It features a black outer border representing the bleed edge and a red inner border representing the actual product dimensions. Four rounded rectangular registration marks are positioned at the corners of the inner red border. The text 'UV210' is centered in the middle of the page, with two lines of explanatory text below it: 'Black line = bleed edge' and 'Red line = actual product dimensions (delete before printing)'.
